

- Being in a highscope program school our aim is always to be in a partnership climate with the children. During small group activities the teachers of the classroom work at the same level with the children they are grouped with. We observe what they are doing, imitated and play along side of them while describing what we see them doing and asking open ended question to motivate them to talk about what they are doing and scaffold their learning.
- It is my goal to continue to partner with children in their play, developing connection, making them feel appreciated and accomplished, building on their confidence and allow them to grow with each day.
