 1. Death of a person served: Policy and Procedure on the Death of a Person
 2. Maltreatment: Policy and Procedure on Reporting and Review of Maltreatment of Vulnerable Adults
- B. Fall- Nurse is present
 1. Do not allow the person to move or get up and do not attempt to move person until the nurse has evaluated the person. (The exception to this would be if the person is in extreme danger if they remain in their current position.)
 2. Stay with the person.
 3. Call the nurse for help immediately or have someone get the nurse.
 4. The nurse will evaluate the person to determine the severity of the fall and will check vital signs or assign someone to check vital signs as needed.
 5. If the person is deemed medically appropriate to transfer from the floor, staff will use a 2 person transfer with a gait belt and if the person is not medically appropriate to transfer from the floor, 911 will be notified and emergency medical technicians will be notified and will transfer the person. The nurse will direct the staff on what course of action to take.
 6. Follow through accordingly as instructed by the nurse.
 7. Continue to observe the person and check vital signs a minimum of every shift for three consecutive shifts. Document the vital signs and make a note in the nursing notes until the person's monitoring of vital signs is completed and the person's condition is stable.
 8. If the person's condition is not stable, update the physician or nurse practitioner, follow up according to their recommendations.
 9. If the person loses a tooth, there is a possibility that the tooth may be saved. Seek emergency dental treatment immediately (usually 30-60-minute treatment window). The dentist should be notified anytime there is a fall that might jeopardize the person's dental health and ask for direction as to appropriate emergency dental care.
 10. When the fall is unwitnessed, treat it as a head injury, unless the person is reliable and can clearly state whether or not they hit their head. Refer to the Neurological Assessment Policy and Procedure.
- C. Fall- Nurse is NOT present
 1. Do not allow the person to move or get up and do not attempt to move person until the person has been evaluated. (The exception to this would be if the person is in extreme danger if they remain in their current position.)
 2. Stay with the person. If you are alone and need to get help, explain to the person that you are going to get help and will be back.
 3. Evaluate the person to determine if there is a serious injury. If the injury appears serious or there is uncertainty about the extent of injury, call 911. To help determine the severity of the injury, does the person appear to be in severe pain, do you notice any deformities in their extremities, person is bleeding and bleeding will not stop, or injury to eye affecting vision.

4. If uncertain what to do, and time allows – try to contact the Nurse or designee for guidance.
5. The staff on duty will monitor the person, to the best of his/her knowledge, to determine the severity of the fall and carry out the appropriate action: If the person is deemed medically appropriate to transfer from the floor, staff will use a 2 person transfer with a gait belt and if the person is not medically appropriate to transfer from the floor, 911 will be notified and emergency medical technicians will be notified and will transfer the person. The nurse will direct the staff on what course of action to take.
6. Check the person's vital signs.
7. Notify the Director of the fall to follow up on the person's condition and any remaining tasks that must be completed. The nurse can be contacted if needed.
8. If the person loses a tooth, there is a possibility that the tooth may be saved. The tooth should be handled carefully – avoid touching the roots if present – pick up by the crown (the white part). Place tooth in milk, saline or have person spit in container and place tooth in it (if milk or saline are not available). Do not store in water. Seek emergency dental treatment immediately (usually 30-60 minute treatment window). The dentist should be notified anytime there is a fall that might jeopardize the person's dental health and ask for direction as to appropriate emergency dental care.
9. If the fall is unwitnessed, treat it as a head injury unless the person is reliable and can clearly state whether or not they hit their head. Refer to the Neurological Assessment Policy and Procedure.
