Why is a good college GPA Important? Having a good GPA can also help you earn academic honors, and it provides the college administration with a method of ranking performance in a particular course or program.

Why is it important to know your learning style? A learning style is the way that different student learns. A style of learning refers to individual's preferred way to absorb, process, comprehend and retain information. The four key learning styles are: visual, auditory, tactile, and Kinaesthetic.

Why is respect for authority important for college students. When individuals respect authority, it promotes social order. This is important because it allows society to grow and flourish.

Why is self-direction important for college students? Self-direction ignites a passion for learning and therefore the intrinsic motivation to learn. Students want to learn because the experience or content means something to them not because they want to get a good grade or pass a test. They intrinsically desire more.
