

Journal #1 ----- Nurse Legal Case Study: Wrongful delegation of patient care

- How does this journal article/current events/concept relate to the course material?
- What concepts from class did I easily master this week? Why were they easy?
- What concepts from class were difficult for me this week? Why were they difficult?
- Of everything I did this week, what am I most proud of?
- What have I learned this week about myself as a student nurse?

This journal article relates to the course material since it is discussing the rights of nursing delegation. The article focuses on the wrongful delegation of care for a client (Reiner, 2020). The concepts from class that I quickly mastered this week include the importance of asking another coworker directly for help and the scope of a UAP. These were easy for the nursing student since the student has job experience as a healthcare technician. A concept from the class that is more difficult includes the fact that a patient's oxygen level should be kept above 95% if they have a suspected MI. Another concept that would be beneficial for the nursing student includes the importance of following up with the individual to whom the nurse delegates the task. The nursing student was not aware of these points. The nursing student learned this week the significance of leadership and the steps to further herself into a nurse leader.

Reference

Reiner, G. (2020). Nurse legal case study: Wrongful delegation of patient care. Tennessee Nurse. Retrieved from file:///C:/Users/maria/AppData/Local/Temp/Wrongful%20Delegation%20of%20Patient%20Care.pdf