- Work through each aspect of the module ✓
- In a Paragraph Form do the following activities ✓
  - There are many different types of patient populations. In Mattoon, the populations that I most come across are gerontology and the chronically ill. Both preceding populations are also considered to be vulnerable populations. The learning needs with care of these population are proper skin care, fall risk prevention, and comfort care. These learning needs are indicated in most facilities. I do not anticipate that the services provided to the patients in these populations will change. New equipment or other technology that can be anticipated for these populations are new procedures and devices to aid in preventing skin break down, reducing fall risk and improving comfort care.
  - After researching different professional nursing and leadership organizations I found many that could aid my leadership journey. The first one is the American Academy of Nursing which will allow me to aid in transforming the health system by promoting healthy aging, reducing health disparities, and shaping healthy behaviors and environments. Another organization that would aid in my leadership journey in the near future would be the National Association of Neonatal Nurses. I would love to join this organization when I make my transition from a transplant nurse to a neonatal nurse. The preceding organizations provides opportunities for members to influence care for neonates and their families, collaborate with the leader and peer in their field, and gain knowledge to improve their daily practice.
