Instructions

Therapeutic communication is a fundamental component of nursing and is a complex concept. Ensuring positive encounters between nurses and patients is important for improving the quality of nursing interactions, the performance of various nursing duties, and meet patients' diverse needs (Abdolrahim et al., 2017).

Students will access the case study through the ATI website. Students will complete the ATI assignment under the "Apply" tab labeled "The Communicator 2.0: Video Interaction: Client Comfort and End of Life Care". If you have difficulty locating this assignment, please refer to the screencast embedded in Edvance 360 to assist you.

The case study provides a 5-minute overview including character background (for example role, age perspective) on each person within the case study. The case study will unfold into various stages with video scenarios. The videos are presented in 30 second to 1-minute communication-related scenes. Multiple healthcare professionals are involved in the case study including significant others, nurses, care providers, student nurses, and the client. The scenario review typically lasts 25 minutes. Average time in the case study is 30 minutes. The student will receive text-based rationale for selected options and will receive a percent correct in relation to the first selected option, and time within the product.

Step 2: Self - Reflection

Reflecting on your responses and experience with the case study (ATI: Apply: The Communicator 2.0: Video Interaction: Client Comfort and End of Life Care), answer the following questions.

1. What did you learn from this scenario?

I learned that families often don't see eye to eye on health conditions. The daughters are reluctant to let go and face the severity of the situation, making it difficult for the nurse to provide care.

1. Identify your biggest takeaways.

My biggest takeaways are communication and patience. I believe the nurse shows a good level of tolerance with the family and tries to understand each point of view. She also attempts to communicate with them and facilitate communication to help provide the best care for their mother.

1. Explain the factors that influenced this decision.

2. What are some of the main problems or key issues expressed in the scenario?

Disagreement is the biggest issue; no one seems to be on the same page. I feel that the client's wishes may be overlooked due to the disagreeing daughter.

1. What were some of the challenging decisions the nurse needed to make?

I feel the nurse really needs to have a conversation with the client and doctor alone. The client's wishes seem to be getting drowned out by the bickering daughters. By having this conversation, the team can understand the client's needs and possibly better help her communicate with her family about her wishes.

1. Describe the rationale behind these decisions.

- %2. What factors influenced your decisions and responses during the scenario?

1. Explain your response.

While completing the scenario, I could see there were going to be family issues. I attempted to choose responses that were kind and kept the lines of communication open.

1. How will you respond if this scenario presents again in the future?

If presented with the situation again, I feel that I would try to bring in the doctor and social worker sooner. Like I stated before, I don't feel the client was being heard, and untimely, she should be my main focus.

1. Have you experienced similar situations in your clinical rotations?

No, I have not come across these kinds of situations yet.

1. How did you or others respond to the situation? Please explain.

2. Describe successful communication strategies you have used or experienced in the clinical setting.

- %2. Discuss the advantages and disadvantages of having families discuss treatment options, including end-of-life decisions before a loved one becomes ill or early in a terminal illness.

Having some sort of plan is always good, but those can often be complex discussions. It is always good to know what your family member prefers, but they also need to understand that things may change. For example, in the case, one daughter didn't want the mom to have pain meds. Clearly, it was needed; the mother may have expressed not wanting them before she had pain, but it's important to remember things may change as conditions change.

Step 3: Submission

The student should insert their screenshot with proof of time into this document under step 1. The student should then type all of their answers into this document under step two. It is recommended that the student utilize Grammarly to check for errors in spelling, grammar, clarity, and mechanics. Upon completion of the assignment, the student should review the rubric below to ensure all components are completed and submit to the drop box in Edvance 360 prior to the due date.
