

Lindsay Cox

Journal #2

Today was exciting. I loved my nurse and thought she was a great teacher and mentor. She was patient with me as she walked me through administering medications and how to change out IV solutions. She also brought me into any room that she thought would be a good learning experience. I also got to witness a lung biopsy and an endoscopy to identify a GI bleed. They were both interesting to see.