

My response

The nurse needs to confront the healthcare worker that was responsible for leaving the ^{Text} patient's personal information on the computer for people to see. The worker who is responsible will then need to apologize to the patient and her sister and face consequences for being irresponsible and violating HIPAA.

Take notes here to describe the strengths and weaknesses of your own submission based on your review of the expert answer.

From the first video I concluded that the healthcare worker made a mistake and should face consequences for being irresponsible. I did not go into as much detail as the second video, explaining how the situation would be handled. I was unsure on exactly what would happen, as each organization might have different rules and regulations.
