

Emily Konrad

Legacy Project Summary Form

For the legacy project, this group went to the Habitat for Humanity ReStore. During their time at the store, the group helped clean and set out inventory, unload donations, organize the donations in storage, clean the store, and help with various other needs. The ReStore has a large warehouse filled with many items needing selling and waiting for pick up. The ReStore benefits from extra help to get through a large number of items in the warehouse.

Habitat for Humanity relates to nursing because it provides better living conditions for families whose homes burden them for one reason or another. With the improved living conditions, the families can focus on their health, among other improvements. Poor living conditions introduce a host of health concerns that these families no longer have to worry.