Step One: Interview process:

Step One: Directions: Each student will independently complete the Therapeutic Communication Gerontology Assignment. Students will select an older adult to interview. The interviewee may be a family member, and the interviewee does not have to be a patient. Interviews can be face-to-face, virtual, or by phone. Each interview should be a minimum of 20 minutes. Students should ask a minimum of FIVE question. Example questions are listed below. Students can phrase the questions in a conversational tone. A student may ask a question not listed below but must write down additional questions in interview process chart provided. Students are to complete the Interview Process Chart per chart directions.

Example Interview questions:

1. What are the most rewarding things about getting older? Is it a lifetime of knowledge?
2. What are the most important lessons you have learned in your life? Ask to hear the stories behind those lessons.
3. Who has influenced you the most?
4. What life advice would you pass to future generations?
5. If you could go back to any age, what would it be? Would they stay the age they are now or go back? How far back? What was life like at that time?
6. What do you remember about the place you grew up? Do they still live there, or have they visited? If so, how has it changed?
7. Which invention from your lifetime that amazed you? What was life like before?
8. What was your favorite movie when you were younger?
9. What was your first job? How about your favorite?

Step Two: Interview Evaluation-Reflective Activity

Step Two Directions: After interviewing an older adult, students are to complete a self-reflective evaluation. Answer all FOUR questions listed below. Complete in full sentences with proper clarity and mechanics. Follow rubric for full guidelines.

1. What are the major take-home lessons after interviewing an older adult?
The major take home lessons when interviewing the older adult is that life is a process of trial and error. There is no correct answer or solution but making the best possibility every single day will make life a little easier. The older adult interviewed gave such great advice in question 2 such as living life to the fullest and believing in oneself over anything. Advice like this can take anyone far when applied to all aspects of life.
2. How can a nurse adapt their practice to be more responsive to the unique needs of an older adult client?
A nurse can understand that older adult clients have different views on life and different values that could stem from their growth period and what they were influenced by. Things like television, inventions, and entertainment can influence what these older adults believe are acceptable. A nurse can be more sensitive and open minded to the differences that older adults may pose when in practice.

3. In what way is a student building their nursing skills by interviewing patients including older adults?
A student is building their nursing skills by practicing communication with older adults and using questions that can entice memories and reminiscence from older adults. Students learn a broad spectrum of interview skills that could be necessary during the health history portion and keeping older adults' company as many of them may suffer from loneliness. It's important to prioritize a healthy, working relationship with older adults.

4. Reflect on one question and expand on how the communication could improve.
Expanding on the first question that was asked about the greatest influencer, the communication could have consisted of more examples and specific cues to bring forth further topics. Conversations such as a famous influencer, or an influencer that affect the interviewee's childhood could elicit deeper connections and a deeper thinking process that the interviewee work through.
