

1. The organization relates to population/global health in a way that helps improve homeless people's lives. The organization uses the money they get to build and repair houses throughout Illinois. Since 1976, Habitat for Humanity has helped repair and build more than 600,000 homes, sheltering over 3 million people internationally. Habitat for Humanity seeks to put God's love into action and brings people together to build homes, communities, and hope. Habitat for Humanity got built on the belief that everyone should have a decent place to live. Overall, Habitat for Humanity helps low-income families in remarkable ways.
2. Today, the student was an engaged nursing professional presenting how Habitat for Humanity helps serve the community. The student talked about how the organization selects members based on specific criteria. The criteria include better housing, willingness to partner with Habitat for Humanity, ability to pay the mortgage, and an income below 60% of the median income. The organization helps 7.1 million people.
3. The students talked about how we contributed to the organization. We helped organize and stock different products at the restore. The students made sure the customers got the help they needed. Furthermore, the students also worked with the other volunteers to ensure that work was done efficiently and on time.
4. Habitat for Humanity helps to support low-income families by helping build homes. People donate items, and the organization sells them for a cheaper cost. The organization provides furniture, clothes, and other household items.
5. One way the site could better serve the community would be to open more restores in areas with a high population.
6. The group's health risks are malnutrition, homelessness, and lack of access to healthcare.