Level of motivation for learning: The patient was interested in learning about hemodialysis and exactly what it consists of. Barriers to effective learning: The patient is non-verbal, so we used a communication board to communicate. Health beliefs/values: The patient has regular doctor's appointments and believes in their work. He also believes he needs this procedure to improve his quality of life. Psychosocial development: Integrity versus despair (Hinkle et al., 2021) Cognitive development: Formal operational stage (Hinkle et al., 2021)	Nursing Diagnosis: Risk for infection related to an open wound as evidenced by surgical hemodialysis catheter insertion. (Phelps, 2020) Goal of Teaching: The goal of this teaching is to educate this patient on the procedure he's about to have done and to provide information on hemodialysis and what to expect with this treatment as well as how to care for the catheter and how often he will have to have dialysis. Another priority was to teach the patient how to care for the incision site to reduce the risk of it becoming infected.	Intervention 1: Removing hair at the insertion site. Intervention 2: Sterilize the skin with a germ-killing soap. Intervention 3: Treat with antibiotics prophylactically.	Method 1: Discussion – The student nurse explained what hemodialysis is and why the patient must have it done. Method 2: Q&amp;A – The student nurse allowed time for the patient to ask questions and the student nurse answered to the best of her ability.	Discuss how the client/family received the teaching: The patient sat up and paid attention while I explained the procedure. He informed the student nurse that he understood the information given to him. Identify strengths/weaknesses of the client or family in receiving teaching: Strength - the patient had good eye contact, letting me know he was listening and paying attention. The patient also nodded his head, showing he understood. Weakness – originally, the student nurse thought that since he was nonverbal, that would be a weakness but with the communication board and reading his lips, I was able to understand and communicate with him. Suggest modifications to improve the teaching plan (what would have improved the plan?):

				The student nurse believes that showing this patient a video of how this procedure is done would help decrease the fear and anxiety he has around the procedure.
