1. Briefly write about today's experience(s)

I had a pediatric patient who needed sedation for her MRI due to anxiety. I was able to be with her from admission to discharge and witness the whole process.

2. What is one thing you learned?

I learned that people can request anesthesia for an MRI. I personally have had an MRI done before, and although I was fine throughout the procedure, I was never made aware that that was an option.

3. What is one thing you would do differently?

I'm not sure if I would've done anything different. I was very interactive with the patient, especially when it came time to distracting her when she was getting her IV. I asked a lot of questions and was not shy or hesitant to do so. I feel like I try to learn as much as I can during my clinical experiences.

4. What is your major "take home" from today's clinical experience(s)?

That MRI's do not show anything in relation to migraines on their imaging. Even if the person was currently having one and was in the machine, the techs told me you would not see anything abnormal (unless it was from another issue).

5. Is there anything else you would like to mention?

I am looking forward to when I rotate there again because I want to see other procedures as well. The staff was also very welcoming and pleasant to work with.
