

Remediation

1. Types of communication
 - a. To know and understand all types of communication
2. Safety
 - a. Helps minimize risk factors
3. Priority setting
 - a. Helps you prioritize sequence of care that must be provided to a client
4. Patient-centered care
 - a. Help establish healthy relationships with patients and family for better quality of care
5. Informatics
 - a. Helps with providing information to the client suitable for their learning style
6. Foundational thinking
 - a. Ability to comprehend information and concepts
7. Clinical application
 - a. Applying nursing knowledge to a clinical situation
8. Factors that affect communication with individuals and groups
 - a. Ways to communicate to resolve conflict, demonstrate cultural sensitivity, topics for older adults, and others
9. client education
 - a. educate clients their health through their personalized learning style
10. organizational communication
 - a. to be able to communicate to other members of the care team that'll benefit the client