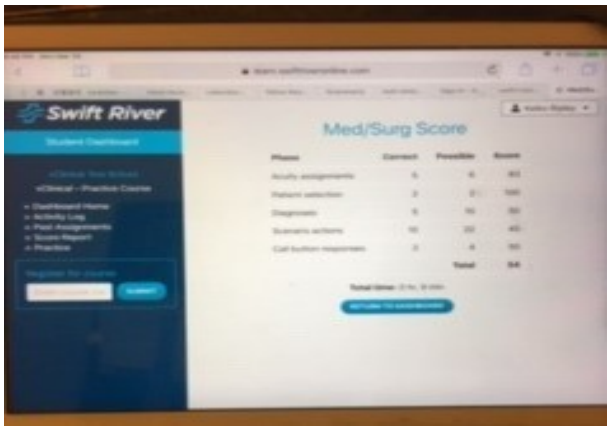
Keiko Ripley
3/31/2020

N441 Clinical Journal for 3/31/2020

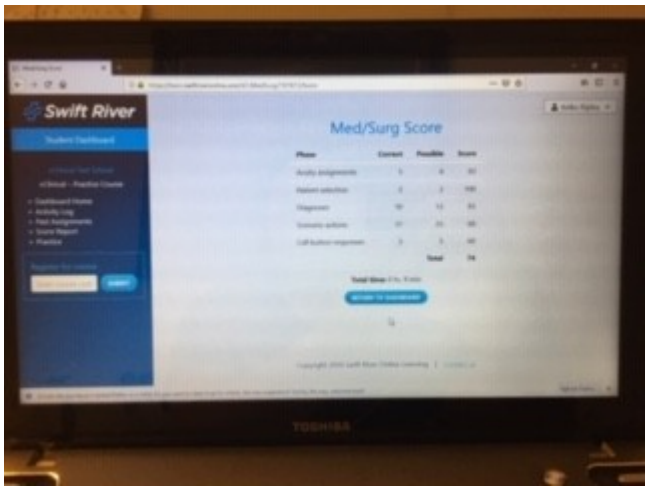
I have just completed the vSim for clinical hours, and to be honest, I thought it was very practical experiences. I have used my iPad to start, but I found I had problem when I exercise the med-surg section. I could not drag the tag to put in order, I think it was just a technological problem, therefore, the first patient was scored low. I switched to use my computer to access my account after the second patient of med-surg, then my problems got resolved. The down part of this assignment is that it will take a while to get used how to progress, and there are many details can cause mistake and it lowers my score.

The most challenging and took the longest time to do was the Med Pass section. It took me almost two hours to complete, not only because I had five patients, it also requires to pass meds at 0900, 1200, 1800, and 2100 for each patient. Besides that, there are many destructions require to delegate the tasks to assistant personals, such as the RN, LPN, and nursing assistant. However, I learned the most form this practice, it really do mimics the real situation in the med-surg floors.

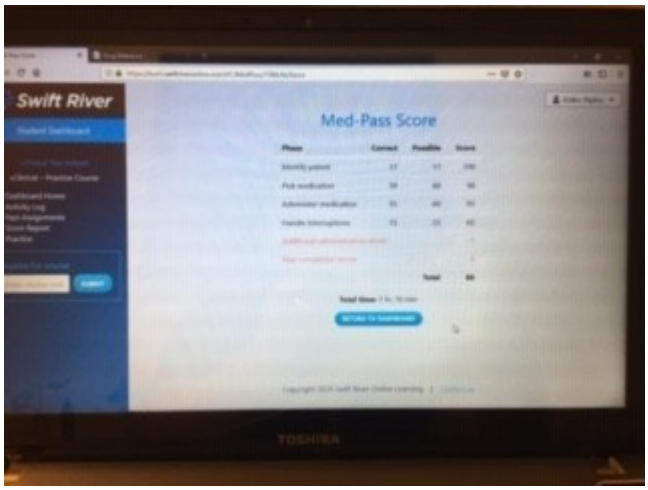
First Pt: John Duncan



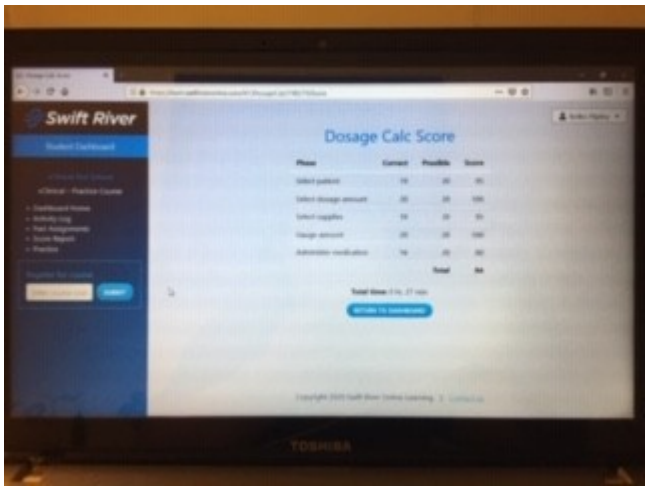
Second Pt: Estella Hatcher



Swift River
Med/Surg Score



Swift River
Med-Pass Score



Swift River
Dosage Calc Score