Introduction to Analysis

Explain in this section what you intend to accomplish in this paper. All responses must begin with indentation and be written in double space. As you will notice that both margins are at one inch. The entire document has a running header with page numbers on the right. First headings are centered and bold. Second headers are aligned left and bold. Third headers are left indented and bold. Any time there is an idea or quote taken from a reading source you need to cite it e.g. Source (Date) or (Source, Date). These are the basics of APA. If you have any other questions, please reference your APA book.

Developmental Theorist

This is the major section of this paper. Choose one theorist from the class to analyze. Below are some suggested questions that you can ask to get you started, but do not be contained by this list. From your time in class, from scripture, your readings and from your interview, please give a detailed explanation of what you believe are the guiding principles to working with people:

Literature Review

Summarize from your texts, articles and class discussion one developmental theorist which should include:

- Explanation of the theorist main ideas
- Strength of the theorist's ideas
- Potential weaknesses of the theorist's ideas

Personal Analysis

Summarize the personal impact that this theorist has had on you, which should include:

- Describe what attracted you to study this theorist in more detail.
- In what ways to view your family, friends and ministry differently as a result of studying this theorist.
- What implications does this theorist have on how you will lead in the church?

Biblical Analysis

How does the Bible support or refute the ideas of your theorist?

Summarize Your Understanding of Developmental Theorist

Summarize your key findings and describe how that will impact your current or future ministry with the individuals in your ministry.

Reflection and SummarySummarize your findings from this course
