

Community Service

Service to others is one way to have students experience giving and often results in gratitude on the part of the student for their own good fortune. Describe a community service activity you could use in your classroom and what virtues/moral behaviors students might learn during the activity.

Design your response as a letter to parents that describes the activities, reasons for the choice, how parents can help both in logistics and in discussions at home, and what you hope the results will be for the community and the children. Your response should be at least two pages APA style.
