BIOGRAPHICAL BOOK REPORT ON “ WHEN INVISIBLE CHILDREN SING” BY CHI HUANG.

According to the book by Chi Huang “ This is an extraordinary effort by a sensitive and knowing Physician deeply interested in young people and their manner of living .” This has to do with an enormous interest of Dr Chi Huang in the Children on the streets of Bolivia. “ This is the work of a Doctor which transcends barriers of geography, nationality and class. Dr Chi gives us much to consider on how young people, no matter the odds against them, affirms their humanity even as they struggle day by day to stay alive and consider and understand the world around them”.

“If only more of us in the United States would get to know the people of Bolivia through the words in this book, words that tell of others we try much need to meet and come to know! Yes ,we who now try to ascertain what is happening in that far-off nation can learn of it mightily, knowingly, through a Doctor’s carefully chosen observations and reflections which hopes and prays will be attended by many within the United States and elsewhere.The work of Dr Chi is similar to the works done by other well meaning Doctors all around the World.

WHAT I LEARNT FROM THE BOOK: I learnt a lot of patience and support for the homeless street Children of Bolivia. I realized how one should be more caring , getting out of one’s comfort zone to care for the oppressed and the hopeless. I saw in the book how one needs not be ashamed of joining oneself with the low and destitute of the earth. There is a lot to be considered on the book and its philosophy. It is psychologically encouraging to see someone leaves the riches and the wealth of his own country to care for the less priviledged of another country.

MY REACTIONS AFTER READING THE BOOK: I reacted to the struggles of over 70 million street children worldwide according to the book. I also reacted to their pains and shame. I want to see more volunteers go to the Nations that are poor and less priviledged to cater for the weak and downtrodden. I also want to see more people both Christians and Unbelievers motivated to sponsor the building of orphanages and homes for the street children of this world that we live inside.

WHAT IMPRESSED ME ABOUT THE MAIN INTERCULTURAL WORKER IN THE BIOGRAPHY:

I was deeply impressed by the main intercultural worker Dr chi Huang, about his heart, emotions and attitudes towards the children that were invisible to other people in other countries but yet are visible to all that care to consider thoughtfully their estates and conditions. I was also impressed by his cares and comfortings that he bestowed upon the children of La Paz, Bolivia.
