Dear Professor Jennings,

Where do I start? What a great class this semester, it was a class that I always looked forward to every Thursday. Thank you for starting with inviting the class to your company party, it was a great experience. You made the class very interactive which made such a great class environment and an open space for our class to express ourselves. I enjoyed the scenarios that were given in class in which gave the class freedom to experience the material personally. All of the material that we learned in class was very useful. I appreciate all your advice to us and guidance to become the very best social workers.

This class couldn't have been possible without a great professor like yourself. You demonstrated how much you cared about your students success and involvement in the class and school. Thank you for always challenging our thoughts and helping us be our own and strong advocates. This has helped me personally to expand my mind and not narrow my thoughts and ideas. This has also helped me to critically think at work with my own clients. Thank you for being so transparent with us and showing us a snapshot of the social work field.

I honestly admire you so much as a professor, social worker and human being. Thank you for humbly sharing your experiences in class. You never made it seem like work was just work but as your calling. You have shown that you really and truly care about your clients and staff at work. We were very lucky to have been taught by a true social worker with a heart of gold. Being in the supportive housing field, I really appreciated all your advice. Thank you offering your help and always being available for all of us, not many professors are. Thank you taking the time in reading our journals and papers thoroughly and for always motivating us to be the best that we can be. Because of COVID19 we could not continue in person class. Which would probably be on thing ill change Ha!. Thank you for making our online class transition easy for us and for taking in consideration everything that was happening and how our lives have been shifted. May God bless you and your family always. It was such a great pleasure being in your class. I hope to become a great social worker like yourself one day.

Blessings,
