College Writing II Final Exam

Four paragraphs, what I did good about writing, what I liked or hated about writing, where did I struggle? And how can I improve it?

This semester, in College Writing II, I have learned to put my guards down in every college essay's in all courses. What I mean is, using perfect college grammar in writing, and putting aside the way I normally talk. This course has disciplined me very well. It is not just taking my hat off in class, and using proper grammar, but most of all, it is following Jesus completely without turning back with His help. This class was like a spiritual military barracks for me to become a fully grown soldier in the Lord ready to serve Him like the saints in the Bible.

What I like about writing, is how I expressed the experiences I had with Jesus throughout my Christian life. Writing gave me joy, because I was also able to express my inner self and my emotions. Writing keeps me busy, as long as it is about the Bible. It helps me follow God more and more, and I record what he has told me.

Throughout College Writing I and II, I struggled a lot in punctuation. I struggled the most where to put the periods, commas and what punctuation, to put after every sentence. In research essays, I had to be really aware of plagiarism especially when I get stressed in a big essay. So there were times I had to stop to read my Bible, and pray for guidance and give all my stress to Him for He does not rush man in growing spiritually. I praise the Lord how He has helped me throughout my challenges and His patience with everyone.

I believe how I can improve my essays is by reading the Bible and praying first especially before I do an essay. Next also, I am going to look at the text books and go online, to learn how to do all the kinds essays. I will practice how to do essays this summer besides reading the Bible. Most of all, I will study the punctuations. I pray to God that my self-control would remain in putting aside how I talk with my friends, as I do all essays.
