

Abhinandan Choudhary
September 28, 2020

Journal Entry 1

A college custom that is difficult for me is adapting to the educational environment here. I was born and raised in India and most of my education took place there. I have an accent and tend to have writing issues which makes it harder for people to understand me. Also, when I first came here, I was unaware of where I wanted to start and what I wanted to pursue. I have now made up my mind and decided business is the route I would like to take.