

How was Islam different/ the same from other Arab tribal religions?

Islam was the different because they believed in only one god, divine unity was the most important concept of Islam. It was different because one god meant one people and this would mean no more tribal divisions. Islam started a new order and it gave equality to all people.

What were the early goals of Islam?

The early goal of Islam was to spread the word of God and that everyone was able to have it.

What led to splits/separations?

The church was separated from government and politics and this caused splits.