1. How does Marx explain the rise of the industry? What global effects of industry does he describe and how accurate do these descriptions seem to you? Marx argued that the Industrial Revolution had polarized the gap between the owners of the means of production and the workers even more. He also believed the proletariat would cause a rise up and overthrow capitalism. He describes that the proletariat would rise up and overthrow capitalism and I think these descriptions seem accurate.
2. Consider the list of proposals at the end of the Manifesto. Do they strike you as radical in today's terms? Why was Communism a "specter haunting Europe". Yes, I think the list of proposals at the end of the manifesto are radical in today's term. Communism was a "specter haunting Europe" because Communism is already acknowledged by all European powers to be in itself a power.
