

Lesson 4

- Chapter 4: Attending to Ethics in Research

Learning Objectives – Chapter 4

- Discuss the historical background that led to the creation of various codes of ethics
- Understand the potential for ethical dilemmas stemming from conflicts between ethics and research demands
- Identify the three primary ethical principles articulated in the Belmont Report and the important dimensions encompassed by each
- Identify procedures for adhering to ethical principles and protecting study participants
- Given sufficient information, evaluate the ethical dimensions of a research report
- Define new terms in the chapter

Assignments:

1. Readings:
 - a. Devotional
 - b. Chapter 4 – Ethics in Research
 - c. Use the power point as a summary for ch 4
 - d. Videos: Watch the videos
2. Participate in the Discussion Board
3. Complete Quiz 4