HIS 114: World Civilization II

Afonso's practical concerns are that the kingdom is being lost in many ways that it is convenient to provide for the necessary remedy caused by excessive freedom. Also, he mentions those doing great harm upon the service of God and the security and peace of the kingdoms and state. Also, his concerns are on whether they will be stopped how it is in their will that in the kingdoms, there should not be any trades of slaves nor outlet for them. Afonso's attitude towards the Portuguese is very respectful and obedient, and with the deliverance to him trying to explain in-depth his concerns and how he thinks they should be addressed in a very respectful manner with his suggestions.
