

Miguel Christopher

Professor Turks

HIS 114/NL

March 29,2022

Title: Primary Source 24.3; Night

- 1- The Nazis running the German prison camps used various measures to dehumanize the victimized Jews. Systematically, The Nazis put the Jews through severe sleep deprivation, starvation, and so many mental tortures; often they cramped the Jews up in their prisons like packs of sardines, like animals before the slaughter, all this inhumane treatment was done by the heartless Nazi Regime, under the orders of Hitler.
- 2- The response the Jew prisoners have at the German prison camps was, the mindset of having faith in life, encouraging each other to have hope and to continue to drive on forward; the thing that keeps the spark of humanity intact is the mind of positive thinking, the strong-minded prisoners showing humanity by encouraging the other prisoners to have comradeship with each other, to lift each other up with a positive mind of hope, speaking to each other the vision, that they will not be under the Nazis for ever