

Caleb Adams
Immanuel Jean Pierre
October 28th
College writing Favorite celebrity

We all have things or people that we cherish deeply and hold near to our hearts. From sports, family, foods, etc but specifically I will discuss my favorite athletes that had a huge impact on me throughout my youth. The athlete in question is LeBron James. A world-renowned name in the basketball community as well as the face of Akron Ohio. I admire LeBron the court character as well as the court. Relentless and never backs down in the game of basketball, and a great example of what it is to be a father off the court. There are plenty of accomplishments and things I could break down but I will narrow my focus to just a few. The few stood out and why they set apart to me specifically.

Growing up LeBron came from humble beginnings. His mom Gloria is a single mother and not having a father figure in his life. Throughout his childhood and teenage years, it was prevalent that LeBron had the great athletic ability to display. Accomplishing many things in High School such as being on the cover of a Sports Illustrated magazine. This magazine titled the chosen one a big name for a kid from Akron. Transitioning though I always enjoyed the way LeBron would play. A mentality shown to destroy anything in his path, and throughout his career currently being in season 20 still improving his game. Not taking for granted the records he's chasing such as all-time leading scorer, and winning NBA championships. One is with the Cavaliers, two are with the Miami Heat, and one is with the LA Lakers. Still pursuing greatness in his craft and not letting his foot off the gas pedal. Additionally being in situations on the court facing adversity. Especially against the warriors in 2016 coming back from a 3-1 deficit, and seizing the title.

Onward LeBron has started I promise school recently which is located in Akron Ohio. Opened in 2018 the school provides an educational opportunity for children to learn and grow. From ages 1-8 offering resources like skill development, tied in with constant encouragement to the kids and support for them to chase their dreams. I love the motto "We are Family " which reminds me of togetherness and unity which I say the school represents. Being behind the children especially those who didn't have the opportunity as such before to succeed. Positioning children for a bright future in a healthy resourceful community and a founder who cares about coming from a struggle. Not bashing players who don't have things like this, but I look up to the importance LeBron has seen in placing this school in the community. To brighten up the atmosphere and watch kids be encouraged to walk in the path of success and not go down dark paths of failure.

Finally, I love how LeBron supports his kids. Bronny, Bryce, and Zuhri all being his kids, and Bryce and Bronny are upcoming stars on the court. LeBron is even to be seen at their games even coaching for a little in some and constant involvement wrapped around support. Posting their accomplishments and being involved individually on equal levels in being a family man.

Parents need to be on the scene. Especially fathers who lay a special foundation down for the kids to go up after. In summary, this is why Lebron is my favorite athlete and sets them apart for me.