

Describe your greatest challenge

- My greatest challenge during this clinical experience would have to be writing the focus nursing note for my patient because my patient had already met the nursing care plan implemented by their nurse and was getting ready to be discharged so it felt like all I had to do was make sure she was comfortable till then which I have now learnt is also part of being a nurse not just taking care of the patient.

Identify and discuss any bioethical concerns & relationship between the environment and health

- I believe that a bioethical concern in healthcare today is that some environmental pollutants in hospitals can also cause the diseases that get patients there in the first place and cause diseases like respiratory diseases and also pressure sores etc.

Describe your greatest accomplishment

- My greatest accomplishment during this clinical was learning how to care for a patient with a mass that is causing drainage and how to bandage up a patient who has an infected mass and I also learnt how to know if the patient needs the wound dressing to be changed.

Demonstrated technical skills

- I feel like I demonstrated teamwork by assisting the nurse and even my fellow nursing students when in need of help
- I feel like I also demonstrated communication skills with both my patient and my nurse as well as my instructor

Demonstrate planning and intervention of cultural, holistic competent care for your patient while considering the patient's perception of health and illness

- I would first explain the care plan to the patient and ask if there was anything that they felt would cross cultural barriers, in which case I would find a way around it and also get an interpreter so the patient could fully understand me, my patient could speak English wasn't as fluent so her daughter was there to translate which was helpful.

Demonstrated interpersonal communication skills with interdisciplinary healthcare team

- Yes I feel like in my experience there I did show some interpersonal communication skills with the healthcare team. Like asking questions about my patient with the nurse and conveying things i thought the nurse needed to know as well as if there was anything the nurse could tell me to better assist this patient.

Demonstrated interpersonal communication skills with classmates and instructor

- Yes, I believe that in my experience there, I demonstrated some interpersonal communication skills with my classmates as well as my instructor. Assisting my classmates if they had any questions or problems, as well as my instructor if I had any questions about my patient or if I wanted to perform a procedure on the patient, such as the head to toe assessment and also as mentioned before wound dressing change. I even spent some time with the patient's wound care nurse.

Provides a bible scripture reference to clinical experience

- Roman 8:18-For I reckon that the suffering of this present time is not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us.
- I feel like that bible verse helps you to have faith in God and his plans for both you and your patient and showing that no matter how bad it looks now it will become better

Showed initiative to pray

- During this clinical experience, I did not show initiative to pray

Demonstrates: willingness to help others, caring, advocates, and cares for culturally diverse patients

- I feel like I did show willingness to care and advocate for patients who are culturally diverse and even though my patient wasn't, I was intrigued to see what my fellow classmates did and I loved to see the interaction when I was assisting them in taking vital signs and also watching the nurses attach IV's and give medication
