

Descriptor of your spirit: When you take the best of your human spirit and the Holy Spirit, What does that look like?

Jun Suk Seo is a man who sought after holiness.

Dream: What is the best of you that is to come? What's the best of what you've been given when it plays out?

The best of me that is to come would look like a person in vocational ministry who lives out a God-glorifying life out of an understanding of who God is rather than being bound to expectations. The dream is to cultivate a culture where disciple-making is the norm where the ones disciplined will go out and make more disciples. I wish to do this primarily through the local church but also wish to be able to see the opportunities presented to me in my everyday life to disciple others.

What are 2 things you'll implement in the next six months? And how?

First, I want to surround myself with brothers who can be my friends. Currently, in assessing my relationships, I think I am lacking people who will speak truth into my life, both good and bad. I recognize the need for friends who will point me towards God, so that I can see the grace He daily provides. I want to intentionally seek out and meet up with faithful brothers around me and get to know them. I will make my intentions clear with them that accountability and friendship is what I am seeking. Secondly, I wish to set a schedule. I believe that the opportunities to make disciples are there already. However, I tend to fall back on the excuse that I don't have time to do certain things I wish to do. I want to set a schedule for my days where I have a regular rhythm I can fall into. This will include deliberately carving out time for sitting at a café or walking around a bookstore to develop relationships outside of the church.
