Who are you?

Where are you from?

My name is Eugenie Cidoine but I prefer to be called Cindie, I am from haiti. I was born and raised there till the age of 10 and then after that I moved to the United States, and did my middle school years and highschool years in Albany, New York.

What are you studying?

My major is Psychology, I am drawn to helping other people out and want to better understand human behavior and myself.

What would you say Jesus is to you?

Jesus to me is my best friend, he loves unconditionally and without limits. To me I see him with his arms open and the most loyal friend that I can have because I can trust him no matter what and I know that he is reliable.

What do you dream of doing with your life?

I dream of helping the youth, I have a passion to care for people and I want to use my degree and knowledge to help the youth, especially African-American youths and Haitians. I know that they are dealing with so much with life and the pressures and the depression rate is getting higher, I feel as though they would benefit more from seeing someone that looks like them because I can relate to them and they can relate to me.

Who is one person you admire in life and why?

The person that I admire in my life is my sister. She became my mother when I was 10 years old because I moved to the United States without my mom and she took care of me. I look up to her because of the many trials she overcame and she did not let that determine who she was. She had dyslexia at a young age and did not grow up in a good home with her mother and her relationship with her mom was not the best but she changed the mindset that she had from a young age and raised me differently and I appreciate and look up to her for the woman that she is.
