

coffee shop observation

I went to the coffee shop in the queens mall ,it's a large open area,there are many tables and chairs ,technically,I think it's not a coffee shop,There's a little area in the middle where they can make drinks,and they also sell deserts,like donut and macaron.They are quite busy, some customers line up outside,I got a cup of coffee and sat for a while.A lot of people were sitting there talking, laughing ,eating snacks,there were a lot of kids playing around me,a little noisy.

The second one was a real coffee shop,It's special,The tables are made of wood,each one topped with a beautifully decorated table cloth,There are fresh flowers on the tables ,bookshelves line the walls with books and coffee cups.the light is dim,there are many couples ,they were talking and eating cakes.The shop smelled of coffee and sugar,I can hear the coffee machine whipping milk.The waitress get the bill for customer and talking.

The third one was so big which near my home,it;s kind of like a restaurant,they serves coffee and tea,in addition to light refreshment such as baked goods and snacks.many people are waiting in line,pick-up driver waiting for take-out,two girls were making drinks, a chubby tall boy were moving a big box.the smell of bread was so good,it's a little cold ,many people want hot coffee,There were lots of people with hats and gloves.
