How does it resemble other hierarchies?

The hierarchy seems very typical to any other kingdom or empire. The Hittite hierarchy is even similar to how our society is today, lower, middle and upper class.

What cultural or organizational features distinguish it?

The Hittites worshiped storm gods which could also relate to how they worshiped the king. The organizational features involved the Constitutional Monarchy. In specifics the king was the supreme ruler of the land. They fill roles such as military commander, judicial authority and high priest.
