

Tsephania Sanon

Alliance University

Nyack Heritage

Steve Nehlsen

February 6, 2023

My Solemn Covenant

Father, your word says that you knew me before I was formed in the womb. You distinguished me before I was born. You not only recognize me, Lord, but you also set me apart. As a result, I believe you chose me. You brought me into this world because it was your will. And I appreciate it. You know everything about me. You know everything about my life, from the beginning to the present. You know my deepest secret and what I don't know about myself. You are aware of everything I do, wherever I go, and what I think. Even when I am unfaithful, you remain faithful to me. Nothing can hide your presence in my life because it is too vivid. My heart longs for you, Lord. My heart was always filled with a strong desire to help you. Nothing can take away your love for me, you are a powerful God. You never abandoned me because your love is pure and genuine. What is it that is preventing me from progressing? Maybe it's because of my sins that this barrier has formed between you and me. For I know that God knows what I don't know. But there is one thing I am certain of: I want to follow you.

My past keeps resurfacing, reminding me of who I used to be. My mind is in pain. In your eyes, I committed heinous crimes. In your presence, I am embarrassed. I tried several times but failed. When I am on the right track, something comes along and knocks me off. Nonetheless, the desire to serve you burns within me all the time, but how can I remain loyal to you? How can I remain in your presence indefinitely? It is an eternal battle, and you know, God, I cannot face it alone.

My soul, on the other hand, is looking for mercy and forgiveness. Take me as I am and change me. Take all of my pieces, Lord, and reassemble me. Because Jesus died on the cross for my sins, I know that they do not condemn me. I don't deserve your forgiveness, Father, but your son's sacrifice was not in vain. Your most precious gift to me was love through Jesus. Lord, you are God, and you always keep your promises. Nothing can ever separate us because you will always love me.

You revealed your love to me through Jesus Christ. In his name, I demand liberty. Your word says that Jesus, and through faith in him, we can approach you with freedom and confidence. I take your word for it and approach you to make this covenant so that I can enjoy the benefits of freedom that will lead me to holiness and give me access to eternal life, as you promised. I want to be with you for the rest of my life. I want to live for you. And be everything you asked of me. I rededicate my life to you once more. Take me and use me for the glory of your kingdom. May everything in me serve you, Lord.

Accept this agreement right now. Keep it in mind when I'm walking with you. Please do not take this covenant lightly. I know you can't let me down, so please don't let me down. Remember that I was created for your glory, and that nothing, not even sin, can separate us. Remember that I am now yours forever, and that my sins are forgiven because of your love and mercy. As a result, I am for you, and I am now at your disposal to advance your kingdom. I appreciate your assistance.