I never knew that I am gifted until the day I become a born -again Christian

It was a Saturday April 23rd 2011 at 7:30 P.M, at Saint Michael when I first say yes to God. It was a Holy Saturday before Easter Sunday's. That night, the church was crowded with people, some came to be baptized for the first time, and some also came to receive the Holy communion for the first time too. The church choir was singing, dancing, and everybody seem to be Happy. What made me decided to give my life to Christ that night, was that; the priest was preaching about Fornication and Adultery. I got highly offended because I was living with a man who was married before, but not to me; and I say to myself instead of getting angry at the priest; why can't you do the right thing, and I knew that right there I needed to make some changes in my life, and then while I was in the church, it was like I heard a voice softly talking to me, and I believe that it was the Holy spirit, and he kept saying to me, do the right thing because tonight is your last chance; and I know that I had to do something about my situation. I am very stubborn, but that night, by hearing the Holy spirit talking to me it was an opportunity, and I did not let that opportunity to become obstacle; and right there in the church I gave my life to Christ and I had made promises to him one of those promises is that I will never let anybody, nor anything come between me and him.

Here I am now after the service, talking to the priest explaining to him what was just happening to me. The priest gave me some feedback on what I experience, we talked for couple minutes, and I left; I went home. I explained to him what happened to me at church he did not care. Saying goodbye to my lover was a sacrificial decision, that I had to make, because I cannot choose anyone over the Almighty. In life people have to know what is good for them. Especially when it comes to relationships. That night I learned something about my partner that I did not know before, how selfish he was, and thank God I figured It out before it is too late, so I moved out; and that was the end of our relationship.

I am Christ follower and I can tell people that being a born -again Christian these days in this crazy society it is not easy, I have to be gifted, because I have to use common sense to fight daily with satan temptation. What I do with my gift is taking away satan customers from him, another way to say that is winning souls, because he who wins souls is wise and that makes satan unhappy, and guess what no one cares about satan feelings anyway, because my job is to be concerned about people feelings not satan feelings once again this is what I do with my gift, the first day I gave my life to God know what my task is, to follow Christ in love and obedience and trust every step to him, and I am going to keep on using my gift until the day that I breathe my last.

People who know me back then finding it hard to believe that I am a born again Christian, one even asking me that if I am HIV positive I did not get offended all I said to him is that get behind me satan, because I can tell that satan talking, and I know that right there to quote the Bible to him by letting him know that not only sick people are God people, you can be in good health and a Christian at the same time. How I know that I am gifted because of what people say about me, people love coming to me with their problem, because I am a great listener and a great communicator. People trust me they know that I am a born-again Christian, and It makes me feel good, even though some people are not amicable, well that does not bother me, because everybody is different.

The main reason why I am in this school is because I want to make a difference in people lives, and I don not care about taking student loans because money is not everything. I am from a country where there is so much confusion about God. The majority of them do not believe in God, that is sad, but it is true. I do not have anybody in family that support me; because they think that it is too dangerous. I do not care if I have gotten killed, all I care about is that, they are starving for knowledge, and my job is to help them, and not to give up on them; once again this is on of the thing that I need to do with my gift. The way I see it is like, it is God calling me and who am I to say no to Him. It is not an easy task, but with God help I know that I can do it.

From where I was to where I am now people who know me can see a big change in my life, with my gift I have three people so far that I know I put back to church and, I am going to win more than three, It is just a beginning. I already knew how I am going to do it, and I am not saying it is going to happen right now, but eventually I am going to make it happen, and people will be surprised to see whose souls that I win, the reason why I am saying this is because people who used to say bad things about me now have stopped because they can see a big difference in my life, some of them accept the change, but some don't. Well too bad that is not going to discourage me, and in life I have know that I can not please everybody, and anyone's whose trying to do so will end up being lonely and miserable, and as a gifted person I am supposed to know that trying to please everybody is a sin against the Almighty, because it shows that you are competing with the Almighty, the reason why I am saying this is because; no matter how good you are you are going to find someone who does not like you; and you can not do anything about that, take this as an example. Why do you think there is Hell and Heaven, because not everyone loves God simple is that.

As I mention earlier when I first give my life to God I made promises to him and one also of those promises is that I will never relent in praying God for my son and his family. I can see that in my son and his wife they do not like to talk about God. Those two rebels before I breathe my last I am going to bring them back to God, and I have faith in God sooner or later it will happened, because my God is never let anyone down, and I think this is where my journey is going to end.
