What factors contributed to a new construction of slavery? The slave trade and some other slave societies that had began to develop after 1500 had encouraged and recognize a new construction of slavery.

Why & how were American slave populations dehumanized? Since slaves were not counted as people this itself was dehumanizing also American slave populations were dehumanized as a means of justifying their enslavement and mistreatment. The slave trade and slavery were deeply rooted in racist beliefs and attitudes, which held that black people were inferior to whites and that it was acceptable to enslave and abuse them

Define the new racial construct which emerged, especially in colonial southern society & the Caribbean, and the justification behind it.

American slave populations were dehumanized as a means of justifying their enslavement and mistreatment. The slave trade and slavery were deeply rooted in racist beliefs and attitudes, which held that black people were inferior to whites and that it was acceptable to enslave and abuse them.

Do you see remnants of this in 21st century America? Explain.

Today in the 21st century there are some remnants but no slavery at least not within America. There is still racism and oppression on other states. Slavery and the dehumanization of Black people has had lasting effects on American society, and many of the negative stereotypes and attitudes that were used to justify slavery continue to persist today.
