

Rewrite:

God is the ruler and creator of the universe. He sees the evil and good and knows what I am thinking. I want to dedicate myself to God for eternity and come as a sinner with a deceitful heart. Throwback to my past. It was full of shamefulness and confusion. Please forgive my depravity. I hope to bow before you and approach your throne of grace through your son, Jesus, the only Mediator. Everyone who believes in your son will have everlasting life. I am making a vow about believing in Jesus and only accepting salvation through Him. I trust you and will not disobey this covenant. No matter what kind of rebellious thought I have, I must defeat them. Because of my weakness, I could not do this my own, but with God's help, I shall conquer every obstacle. The purpose of this covenant is not about the fame but everlasting life. Hopefully, your holy spirit can rest upon me, so I can have the chance to proclaim your laws to all the people. By doing this, I may have to chance to enter heaven by your allowance. Dear lord, please support me forever. I never desired you to offer me wealth or poverty but feed me with sufficient food, so I will neither steal because I'm poor nor leave you because I'm rich. Now, please always offer me your holy spirit and protection in my heart.

My solemn covenant:

God is the greatest. You are the only savior to me. You are always there for me and patiently waiting for my self-confession about my sins from the past. My gratefulness cannot express through words because I do not have the wisdom like you. Please forgive me for my pale language. I know the only way to approach you is to follow your teaching closely and spare no effort to repay my sins. I do not dare to alienate or walk away from you anyhow because the eternal painfulness is waiting for me in hell. I am glad you offer me a precious chance to learn and walk with you. If possible, I hope your holy spirit can guide me to more people that need your help. I must bring them to your son, Jesus, for salvation. But please forgive my weakness so far. I am still striving for it. If someone asks me what is the luckiest thing in my life? I will tell him without hesitation that I know God loves me.
