

Lucia Serrano
PMN 201

Solemn Covenant

You, My Eternal All-Powerful God. I am the ruler of this universe. You made me deserving of being in this earth when you created it. I carry you wherever I go. You are with me in both the good and the terrible times. You always see me, feel my deepest feelings, and are aware of the reasons I choose to live in this given moment. You are aware of how I feel. I start to see why I walk in your honor as I do so. Even though my heart has previously been cruel, I realize that it is time to commit myself to you. I want to give myself completely to you for all of time and all of existence. I shall stand in your presence as a sinner who struggles with remorse and is perplexed and perplexed because of the poor decisions I have made for myself. I have changed from who I was. As I lived this life lost, I was filled with humiliation and confusion. I am impolite, illiterate, and independent. A monster. You, My God, gave Adam the chance to achieve holiness and happiness and the capacity to preserve at a proper state. He neglected you as you held your arms open. He will perish because of his disobedience. He broke your holy rule and paid the price for it. If that were me, my God, I would fall on my knees and thank you for being there for me. I will surrender to you for all my actions.

Do my actions overshadow my rights? What did I do to deserve your displeasure? I am aware that you are here with me and see the beautiful and the ugly in me. But truthfully, your wonderful goodness endures forever. My God, you provided your son to serve as our everlasting gateway. He is a great representation of how we are all connected despite our flaws. The only facilitator I would address with all of my love and faith is you, my God, through your son. I will cheerfully and politely seek the throne of grace to acknowledge my own unimportance, accept your strengthening me through the spirit, and request your permission to come before you in order to make an eternal covenant with you.

I now declare before you and before my conscience and bear witness to accept the conditions of your covenant and accept it. I accept my salvation through and through Jesus, My Prophet, Priest and King as they have given me the wisdom of your wisdom, righteousness, redemption, sanctification and complete salvation. I have accepted my flaws and my wrong doings. I have also accepted the positive and my right doings. I accept anything that comes with you and for you My God and have come to terms with it all.. You have made it willing to come to you in comfort. You have controlled my rebellious heart and life by the love you give. If there are any moments I seem to slip back into a rebellious thought, I will remember my love and your sacrifice oh God and overcome them with the strength you have given me. I am yours.

Oh Father, ratify now in Heaven and remember it. Remember in Heaven that I am yours, that I will stand at your right hand on earth as it is in Heaven. Remember who I am even in the hours of temptation or weakness. Never let me go from this covenant as I will be whole with you. In your strength and salvation, I will be strong and less afraid of the world through you who loves me. Never forget the promise I made to you and only you no matter where I stand, I have saved myself for you in your name, remember me. I have become yours and will be yours for eternity. Even when I give up on myself, I trust the strength you have given me and I will push forward. I will never fail you and I will do my hardest to be the best I can in your name.

I have accepted Jesus Christ as my Lord and Savior. You saved me from my sins. You prepared me for my time when it's my time to meet you in Heaven. You gave your life for us all. I am giving my life to you. As I live I will dedicate myself to you. I will keep you in my mind, heart, life forever and will dedicate myself to you. Give me all of the spiritual blessings in heavenly places in Christ Jesus. I want to make you proud.

Place me where you need me to be and I will be there. Place me in any circumstance that you see fit, and I will overcome it. You have power in my life, control. I will desire and love given poverty or riches. As long as I have your spirit and protection in my heart at all times, I will struggle to survive if that means loving you forever. NO matter what, I will forever be happy with whatever choice is in the Favor of you God.

My savior, you have been nothing but a blessing to me throughout my life. You are who I am and strive to want to be. Creator of this beautiful world I live in and blessed me with the life you have chosen for me. Even with all of my sins and wrong doings, you still made room to forgive and allow me to get to know you and all the love you have given. Even when I felt like giving up, you have given me the strength to see the brighter side. The ground I walk on, the choices I make, the happiness I feel are what you have given me. Even with all the power you hold in my life, in a good way you can take it away but you choose not to, I am ready to give myself to you and fully commit my heart and soul to you my God. I know I do not deserve you, but I will live in your name and make you feel that I am worthy forever. You pulled me out of sadness and downfalls when I didn't think I could survive. But you did it for me. I will prove my love and loyalty to you every chance I can.