

Oh everlasting & most Almighty God, King of the Universe, the one who made this whole world & created me. You are in every place, seeing the good & the bad, yet you see me through it & know me extremely well, my thoughts included. I know & feel that what I think & know are all known by you & you know my actual true motives even more than I do. Oh LORD, I plead with you, you who are the searcher of hearts know my heart way more than I do. I know your word says that the heart is deceitful about all things, but you know that I have a desire to dedicate myself to you wholly. I come before you as Christ did for me on the cross. When I look back at all I have done before I met you, I am often ridiculed with shame & confusion. I see myself as one who was completely defined by sin. You, LORD, made Adam holy & joyful; he had the ability to stay in the garden forever. His disobedience resulted in eternal death. He disobeyed what you had commanded him & I inherited that penalty of depravity. I acknowledge that whatever you pass in judgment is just & I give myself over to your ways.

How can you, oh LORD, look onto me, someone who has sinned against you? I am completely unworthy. But you, LORD, are truly loving & kind for all eternity. You sent your one and only son to become like us, with a body that is completely like mine. In Him existed all the perfections of the Holy & Triune God, with the humility of a human servant. He is the Mediator of the New Covenant, & through Him, we all have access unto you by the same Spirit. Through Jesus, I can come before, LORD, trusting in all He has done, which allows me to boldly come before Your throne of grace. Father, I often feel my own insignificance, but you strengthen me by your Spirit. I can now approach you because your new covenant has given me access to inherit your eternal life. You have said in

Your word that it is your will for all to come to believe in you, and that you would raise them up in the last day. You have given us a New Covenant & has sealed me with your blood that was shed on the cross.

I know declare before you & my conscience, before heaven & earth, that I accept and receive your covenant & close it in accordance that you would desire it. These are that I believe in the LORD Jesus Christ & the salvation that He offers. That He is my prophet, priest & king; He has given me His wisdom, righteousness, justification, sanctification & redemption and my COMPLETE salvation. You, LORD, have allowed me to come to you. You have conquered through my rebellious heart with your love. So now, take my heart & use it for your glory. Whatever rebellious thought that arises within, may you overcome it & bring it in obedience to you. I give myself completely to you as one who has come to life from the dead. Take me & use me entirely for your glory.

Uphold your covenant to me before all of heaven Father.

Remember me, my God, when you bring me back home.

Remember me, LORD, when you come with all the angels & the saints to judge the world. Remember & keep my name in your right hand in heaven forever. Remember me, LORD, my God & Father, in the hour of temptation;

never let me go from the promise you have kept with me.

I feel as if my own weakness can overwhelm me at times.

But you, as the captain of my salvation, will keep me

strong & secure in you, because you have made me

more than a conqueror through your love.

I have kept your word as you have called me to LORD. Let me not be covenanted with the things of this world, but to give myself to you as you have given me eternal life. Keep me faithful to you for me to not break your covenant. Give to me all of the abundant blessings that you have kept for me in your covenant, just as you have given me your spirit, which is the promise of the inheritance that I have found in Christ. May you grant me a double portion of your spirit so that I can go proclaim your ways to transgressors. Sanctify me as heaven sees fit! Give me all the spiritual blessing in Christ Jesus.

I am now a soldier of the cross & a follower of the Lamb. Let my life declare that I have one King: Christ Jesus. Give me the strength for this journey as you are my Captain. I am yours & you are mine.

Place me in whatever circumstance you seem fit.
Let your will be done. Grant me your spirit & protect my heart, that I may drink of the living water that you have to give.

Oh God, let my life cry out that I have chosen to be committed to you. There is no greater honor and privilege than to give my life up to you. May it give you the sweetest fragrance that you do greatly desire.
