

Start time: 20:30

End time: 20:45

The current job perspective of college graduates could drastically change. Under the influence of covid, available job opportunities shrank, and numerous companies decided to lay off employees. I heard the related news since the end of last year. As the unemployment rate increase, some college graduates may not even look for a job. Not every college graduate has enough experience or wealth to be an entrepreneur. However, depending on support from parents, relatives, and friends is not a decent method.