On the first encounter when God sent Abraham to Egypt he knew his wife Sarah was very beautiful so he told her to call him brother and he would call her sister. His wife was so beautiful that they would kill him and let her live so that is why they did that. As they arrived at Egypt, they treated Abraham well since he said his wife is his sister, and the Pharaoh took Sarah for him. The lord inflicted disease on him and the Pharaoh told Abraham why he didn't tell him that Sarah was his wife. Then the Pharaoh told them to take your wife and leave so they took off with all their belongings.

In the second encounter Abraham in Gerar said that Sarah was his sister again then Abimelech sent for Sarah and took her. God came to Abimelech in a dream and he was confused because he was in a good conscience and he was sure that Sarah was Abraham's sister but God told him but I am telling you, so that I keep you from sinning against me. This scared Abimelech and he let them go while giving them a thousand shekels, cattles and slave girls. Abraham then prayed and healed Abimelech and healed him, his wife and the slave girls so that they could have children again.

In both Stories they were confused that both Abraham and Sarah were siblings when they in fact were not siblings but Husband and Wife. This plan was set because they knew Abraham would possibly die if they said they were married. They were different where God did not come into a dream to the Pharaoh but inflicted disease because he took Sarah to be his wife God never warned the Pharaoh. With Abimelech God had warned him in a dream and he felt great shame, Abraham then prayed for him and he was healed.

I do think Abraham was right in his actions, he could have died if he had said Sarah was his wife so he took the steps accordingly so that he wouldn't die. While doing this he also took from then since when they let them go they would let them go with everything Abraham had acquired. What these stories teach about God is that God is to be feared, when the fear of God is put in then stuff like that would be easily avoidable. God has a plan for everything, if you pursue him he will protect you. There are many lessons to apply here in life, you must be very careful and don't be quick to things be very cautious in everything you do and listen to God, God will let you know if it is his will.
