

Ayomide Adeyekun

Assignment Week 5

The girl who married the bear

At first while reading this story, I thought it would just be about a girl who didn't listen to her mother. I was think the title was a metaphor or something, but it turned out to be exactly what happened. Yes she ended up marrying a grizzly bear but, what threw me off was, what did she see in her presence prior to her realizing what was in front of her. The Bear tricked her into thinking he was helping her find her family because she was lost. She didn't realize he was a bear until days after. But I'm my opinion I think her staying when she finally came to sell her senses was smart, because there could've been a risk of him (the bear) hurting her. The bear took it to far when he got her pregnant. She wasn't even there from the beginning by her own will. Also reading that part of the story threw me off because I'm thinking how was that even possible.

Another smart move of the girls was using the bears lover for her to save her brothers. She just new exactly what to do to get things in her favor. I was hoping she would also use that charm to get back to her family. Unfortunately the grizzly bear did die fighting her brother and his wish in case he passed did occur. But when she finally got back to her family she wasn't the same. She killed her mother and her older brother, but even though she still had some kind of heart to not kill her youngest brother. She still killed part of her family, the bear changed her and her, herself turned into a grizzly bear and she went on to live her life with her cubs. They consider grizzly bears to be part human, so people don't eat them. They eat black bears.