

Journal 6 Field Seminar II

These last couple weeks during my internship having been going alright. I have been doing case management work. It not to bad, I am reconnecting a lot of people with services and finding out many success stories in the program. I do see there are many people that also do not need services any more and need to “graduate” the program. I am also on the assignment of a few veterans that need help. My field supervisor specifically tasked me out with this assignment, I had to locate a place in Burlington county for community service. I found that habitat for humanity is pretty friendly to the incarcerated population here in New Jersey. If this does not work out I may have a church that he can do community service at to which I know the pastor personally. So the internship is going well, process recording are coming along, it a bit different since I am on a phone since you can not get the whole “feel” of a person during a follow-up. I know that you can still get information and accomplish the task though you are over the phone. I am also working on a survey evaluation to present to the staff after a few weeks. Other then that all is going well.
