- Conservatism is basically what you hear in the first few letters of the word “conserve”. It's where people look to preserve traditions whether it's cultural, social or political.
- Liberalism is a political, economic doctrine that gives special importance to equality and protection of individuals rights.
- Nationalism is when a nation or country looks to exclude a group that does not have the same interest.
- Romanticism is when a group of people uses attitude, ideals and feelings to make decisions.
- Utopian Socialism not quite sure that I understand but the definition that i have received on line is: socialism based on a belief that social ownership of the means of production can be achieved by voluntary and peaceful surrender of their holdings by propertied groups
