#2: To be a person means to be a living being that has a life where they must make multiple decision each day that can determine how their life will end up and a life where you live up to 100 years. The nature of the world is all the plants that are classified as living for example all the trees and flowers, all animals that exist no matter what size they are, all the mountains, all the land, and all the water. The wrongs things in the world are a lot of people act before they think that is there why there is so crime and people are always worried about their safety, racism, and people not being able to accept any changes that are made to benefit them. Things go wrong because it's hard for people to come to an equal decision on anything because so many different opinions. If people actually thought about the consequences of what ever crime they were about to commit they would hopefully be less crime because nowadays people just react if you look at them wrong. Life is good. I know as long as I keep trusting in God he will fix my battles for me. All of these answers were just written of what came to my mind they were my assumptions of what the answers are.

#3: James Sire is stating that all of my assumptions that we're given might be fully true, fifty percent true, not true at all but it all connect to the basic makeup of the world. Page 61, "A worldview is a set of presuppositions (assumptions which may True, partially true or entirely false) which we hold (Consciously or subconsciously, consistently or inconsistently or at the basic makeup of the world".

#4: Animist believe that they are living in a world of spirit including spirit of animals, trees, ancestor and any other being that exist. Animist believe if anything goes wrong it is the spirit cause all the wrong in the world like they are being punished. Polytheist believe that every living being meaning human is ranked who is powerful but all have different limits within their power. All the wrongs in the world have been because of peoples status and rank of power this is what polytheist would think. Pantheist would say that everything is exist because of One God that they believe in and he or she is in everything. If everything goes wrong that this the doing of this one God. I believe that God created the world and he is with me every step of the way. An atheist would say that a person is a living being that is known as a human. An atheist would believe everything happens because of karma and luck. Atheistic materialistic believe that there is no gods spirit or force out of the material realm as shown in our power point slide 14. They would answer all the questions Modernist believe that authority has everything with the world and why is it the way it is so they would use that mindset to answer question number 2. Post modernist would answer question two based on their opinions on how the world is the way it is because of politics and the economic power that in reality.

#6: It is important how both account of Genesis that talk about creation highlights humanity connection to reality. In Genesis 1, humanity was made on the sixth day of creation. The language had changed in the Bible. This is paraphrased of what is stated on page 70 in our book.

#7: The fall of Adam and Eve not listening to God and obeying him which is a sin that is source of suffering can relate to psychology because if you think of the real world from a person who is not religious they can see sin as any bad action they do that causes suffering just as any crime or bad thing they commit doing and the suffering will come from who ever is in charge or has power over them for any reason. For example if someone rob a place the consequence is getting arrested charged and jail time. Corporate sin can be related to psychology because if someone sin does something bad because of fear or greed that is corporate sin the consequences will be the cause of their suffering.

#9: I believe that when people pass away they go to heaven. It would be different if people view consummation as a participation of renewal and restoration while they await for the Lord to return that is spoken about in the book of Revelation because it would cause a lot fear because they would have fear of the unknown. In church we are taught that someone passes they go to heaven.
