February Reflection

In the month of February, I have been working on the template arrangement of the AU Athletics Connect program and laying down the framework for the Bootstrap CSS & HTML structure thereof. The pages of focus were the login.html and mainpage.html pages, as well as the layout.html page. I met with my fellow front-end partner Asa Hunte to discuss and determine how Bootstrap will be used throughout the template. Maria Veliz & Santiago Proano, the two UI team members, have shared with the front-end team their UI documents for reference. I originally tried to run the testing documents with Jinja, but the code kept showing on the screen, so to take off this hassle, we simply ran the documents without Jinja, focusing mainly on the front-end side of things, and letting the back-end team, Karinna Rocha & Michael Bennett, take care of the rest. The reality of coding and developing software is difficult in and of itself, but with teamwork and consistent communication, the load feels much easier for us to bear. The Corey Schafer tutorials that were provided have been helpful for me to implement basic, fundamental concepts into the program. In a nutshell, February to me was a month of laying out the foundations for the structure & design.
