US Congresswoman Nydia M. Velazquez represents New York's 7th congressional district as a member of the US House of Representatives. She serves on three influential committees in the House: the Committee on Financial Services, the Committee on Small Business, and the Committee on Natural Resources. Notably, she is the Chairwoman of the Small Business Committee, where she has been a powerful advocate for small businesses during the challenging COVID-19 pandemic.

Congresswoman Velazquez has been an active sponsor or co-sponsor of numerous bills, spanning a broad range of issues. For example, she has supported the Small Business Lending Fairness Act, aimed at safeguarding small business owners from unscrupulous lenders. Moreover, she has backed the National Purple Heart Hall of Honor Commemorative Coin Act, which would authorize the minting of a commemorative coin honoring the National Purple Heart Hall of Honor. Also, she has advocated for the Renewable Energy Expansion Act, which seeks to encourage the expansion of renewable energy sources in the United States.

Beyond her committee work and legislative efforts, Congresswoman Velazquez has been working on several projects and initiatives that are vital to her constituents. She has passionately supported Puerto Rico's right to self-determination and has been pushing for a process that would enable Puerto Ricans to determine their own political future. She has also been an ardent champion of environmental causes, including climate change and the preservation of natural resources.

Overall, Congresswoman Velazquez has been dedicating her time in Congress to address issues that are significant not only to her district but also to the entire country. Her committee work, legislative efforts, and advocacy for her constituents illustrate her unwavering commitment to public service and her relentless drive to enhance the well-being of the people she represents.
