Dead Sea Scrolls

Prof. Garcia

The lecture began with professor sharing about Jesus's messianic presence revolved around some mystery, not in the sense of questioning its ability to be true but rather the "how." Thoughts are then shared about how the topic of Jesus and the dead sea scrolls lead to misinformation about the character of the Messiah. There are some who believe in a messiah of Aaron or messiahs of Aaron.

Professor introduces information that could be similar to an ancient text, parts of this documentation can be iteration as a presentation of the dead sea scroll community. We began the breakdown of this document and the first topic we flow into is unjust use of money. People are robbing the poor and using the temple funds for selfish ambitions. We then get into the conditions of receiving the promises of God, which is obedience and keeping the commandants according to Deuteronomy 7:9

When we kick open the dead sea scrolls and how the community identify themselves. There is documentation that states that loving you neighbor as yourself is in connection to giving your alms. There is an expectation, this deed leads to perfection or proves you to be perfect. To be perfect means to be without sin and there is no way any of us humans could measure up to the true perfection of Jesus Christ. To conclude the lecture professor goes over deeds. There was a breakdown giving in the text and what parallels they make.
