Highlights that stood out to me:

Simpson's young Life

The very first thing that stood out to me was how God gave him the ability to pray for his grieving mother, even before he knew God for himself. A mother's and child's love for one another is the greatest example of God's love for His creation. God loves us like a mother. Graced him with the power of intercessory prayer, prepared his heart for his ministry. Ministry means nothing without the power of love to seal it. You must have love for God's people in order for the power of God to flow into their lives for transformation. A.B. Simpson's ministry was effective because he loved God, he had a desire to do God's will through the love of people. His ministry blossomed because the people saw the power of God's word in his ministry and his witness.

Simpson's Teaching - The Fourfold Gospel

I have to say I really enjoyed this book. It should be used in every Sunday school. I plan to incorporate it in my ministry. The book is profound in its simplicity of the Gospel. And that is the Gospel, it is meant to be taught so that even a child would be able to understand it. The simplicity of the Gospel of His salvation, His grace, His faithfulness, His Love, His protection, His healing power, is for whosoever will believe and receive. The book is written in a manner to be read and taught repeatedly, until it catches hold to all generations. It is an effective book for teaching new believers who they are and what they can possess through faith. For the mature, it gives a clear explanation of why we believe and why others can come alongside and believe with us and not be ashamed of the gospel that is able to save your soul. It is the power of God unto Salvation that will be the only way to salvation and grace in the Kingdom of God.

How you are sensing God is leading you to ‘join’ in the heritage of Nyack College.

I came to Nyack College because I had two pastors tell me at two different times in my life that I need to come to Nyack. Once I saw the opportunity to finally give myself to the idea, I joined without hesitation. Being at Alliance University lets me know that the prayer I prayed to God as a young girl of “I know there is something more to life than this,” is a true statement. There is so much more in God. My life can be so much more with God. Teaching is a lofty profession. To be equipped to be able to teach someone the word of God – to plant that seed, is one of the greatest things I can do in this lifetime. To be able to see during judgment who I was able to save from the Kingdom of Darkness will be one of the greatest rewards I will ever receive. I may not fully understand all that God is doing in my life today, I am just happy I heard the word, I received it and I am willing to share what I have been given. My I stand as one of the great alumni I learned about, and my name be added to the role.

Who is God calling you to be?

I always felt that God was leading to be a teacher or a preacher. I used to have visions as a young girl of me preaching to large audiences or in churches and the place would be on fire! I would wake up excited! Not knowing what a conference was until later in life, when I saw it I then understood, that God will one day put me in a position to speak to large amounts of people at once about Him. I was also told that I would be an author. He has given me plenty of material even though I have yet to compile it together. So, my message is clear – Repent for the Kingdom of God is at hand. Next will be the formation of my execution and platform. I used to think I was running out of time, but I am always reminded that God used Moses at 80. He is the God of eternity, and as I walk out my time with Him, He will set in motion whatever He has put inside of to do for Him before the foundation of the word. My it be great and let His glory be shown. In Jesus name. Amen.

What is He calling you to do? What is your mission?

Right now, as I draw closer to graduation, I feel like He is calling me to stay on course and to be ready in season and out of season. I know that all I have learned is not in vain. How it will all come out of me, only He knows. But I know I am being prepared for something. I was told that I will speak to people that do not look like me. I know what is in me is for the nations. My mission is simply to continue to study to show myself approved to be ready in season and out of season. To always be ready to give a word of truth, to plant the see that will remove one from error that they may see God. I will continue to intercede and be ready to teach, who so ever will in God's timing as He draws His people.

In conclusion, I truly enjoyed this class and all that I have learned about Nyack and it Founder. I feel very privileged to be apart of such a firm foundation of this college and a great ministry that has stood the test of time and still going strong. May God's grace continue to be on your for teaching it and for all the students that God continues to draw to this ministry to learn of Him and go on to preach His word. May it be done in His power and for His glory until He returns.
