Dropbox: Reading Resp. – Week 8

My grandparents have been a huge influence on my life. They have taught me so many things, but the most important lesson I have learned from them is to be kind and generous. My grandparents are the most kind and giving people I know. They have always been there for me, no matter what. They have never hesitated to help me out, even if they were busy. They have always been willing to lend a listening ear, and they have never been judgmental.

My grandparents have also taught me the importance of family. They are always there for each other, no matter what. They are always willing to help out with whatever needs to be done. They are a close-knit family, and I am so grateful to have them in my life.

I have also learned a lot about life from my grandparents. They have taught me that it is important to enjoy life and to take advantage of the opportunities that come our way. They have shown me that it is important to be positive and to always look on the bright side of life.

I am so grateful for everything my grandparents have taught me. I know that I would not be the person I am today without them.
