

Janet Garcia
Film and response
Chapter 23
03/20/2023

- 1. The main reason that the World War I also known as the great war began, was the murder of the Austrian Archduke, Franz, Ferdinand on June 28, 1914.
- 2. They were roughly 40,000,000 military and civilian casualties in World War 1, 15 million people died, and the main cause of death was diseases.
- 3. The first war war, shattered empires, gave raised to a great number of new nations, states spark independence movements in Europe, colonies compared to United States to become a global power.